A QUEEN AND A REAL ESTATE OWNER. "Well Maggie here you are again" said Justice
Otterbourg at the Yorkville Poice Court yesternay as Officer Nugent brought to the bar Margaret haloney, but better known in the upper section of this city on the east side as the "Queen of Condon

"Yes, your Honor," she replied, and I'd like to sing you the song of Kitty dear, or dance you a jug." In reply to the magistrate's inquiries, Officer Nugent said that he arrested the woman at Forty-Nugent said that he arrested the woman at Fortyfourth-st. and Third-ave., where she was attempting to dance the Highland Fling on the sidewalk to the music of two travelling bagpipers. A large crowd stood around applauding her drunken antics.
The officer said sie wanted to fight every man she

DR. PULLMAN'S REPORTED CALL.

DR. PULLMAN'S REPORTED CALL.

A telegram from Chica to published yesterday stated that St. Paul's Universatist Church in that city was about to tall to its pastorate the Rev. James M. Pullman, of the Church of Our Saviour, at Eighth-ave, and Fifty-seventh-st. Before his evening sermon tast might a reporter of the Tribune catled on Dr. Pullman and asked him if he contemplated changing his field of labor.

'That is a some what to leave question," he replied, smiling. "You see, I cannot accept a call until it is made. But seriously, I have no intention of leaving my present parish I have heard mere hints within the last few weeks which might lead one to think that I was to be called to the Chicago church, but there has not been anything definite said on the subject."

"How one have you been pastor of your present church?" asked the reporter.

"This is my sixteenth year. I found the congregation in a chapel in Imity-fifth-st, between Fifth and Sixth-aves, with a debt of $18,000, and now we have a prosperous church with a large membership doing a good work. I see no reason why I should leave it. Since the death of Dr. Chapin I have been the oldest resident pastor of our denomination in he city, and naturally much of the work which he did in that capacity has failed on me. To be sure, I should like to be of service to my brother in his growing colony near Chicago, but perhaps I can help him as much here as there."

"Is the St. Paul's Church an important one?"

"It is the most prosperous Universalist church in the Northwest, one in ainmeapoirs being the only one that approaches it in importance. Dr. Ryaer left it a year ago, and the Rev. Sumner Ellis has been paster for several months. There has been a runger that he has been called to become the permanent paster, but that is a mistake. He has no idea of taking any church, but is simply supplying the pulpit until Dr. Ryder's successor has been chosen."

who are being prepared to be infiniters, teachers and physicians.

The colored people of the South welcome ministers of religion wherever they go and seem to gratefully appreciate the efforts that are being made to raise them from their present degraded condition. Seventy-five per cent of these people cannot read or write, and they are, as a rule, immoral and superstitions. Dr. Hartzell took a hopeful view of the future of the freedmen under the combined influences of religion and education, and said that the principal need among them is a sufficient supply of good ministers and teachers. He described the growth of the Methodist Church in the South as something wonderful—to-day over 400,000 or one-fourth of the entire membership of that church, being in that section. About one-half of the members belong to the intelly emancipated race. the lately emancipated race.

TIRED OF MARRIED LIFE.

A suit for limited divorce has been began in the Supreme Court in Blooklyn by Mrs. Matilda McAfee from her husband, the ground being cruelty. They were married in 1880. Mrs. McAfee was ten years younger than her husband, but a week after they were married she alleges he told her she was saxly years old. She also asserts that her husband struck her over the head with a stick of wood, slapped her with a shovel, raising a blister; hit her on the nose with a book, and compelied her to sleep in a hallway with one blanket on cold nights. The defendant, who is the owner of a fishing smack, asserts that his wife deceived him, and was a hopeless invalid from early dissipation, and was unwilling or unable to do any work. He admits having once hit her on the head with a slick when he was trying to put on her false hair for her. A motion for alimony and counsel fee is pending before Judge Pratt.

A FOREIGN CRIMINAL TO BE SENT HOME. A FOREIGN CRIMINAL TO BE SENT HOME.

One of the Central Park policemen yesterday brought before Justice Otterbourg at the York ville Police Court a wretched-looking tramp whom he arrested the night before in the Park. He was a German, and pretended to be deaf. Justice Otterbourg addressed the prisoner, who had given his name as Sebastian Kuntzman, in German, but the man did not reply. Upon the Magistrate making Some remark about tramps, Kuntzman suddenly regained his hearing and said that he came to this country from Rotterdam in March last. He had been arrested for robbery and sentenced to four years' imprisonment in the Graud Duchy of Baden. After being in prison for two years he was liberated on condition that he would leave the country, and the German Government paid his expenses hither. Since his arrival here he had been tramping about. Justice Otterbourg committed the prisoner, pending the necessary action to secure his return to Germany.

A BROOKLYN CHURCH'S ANNIVERSARY.

A BROOKLYN CHURCH'S ANNIVERSARY.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Hanson Place Methodist Episcopal Church in Brooklyn took place yesterday. This church was formed from the Dean Street Church, which preceded it about ten years. The edifice was dedicated in 1858, and ten pastors have successively been over the church, among them Bishop C. D. Foss, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, the Rev. Dr. A. S. Huat and the Brev. Dr. W. F. Watkins, now of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, this city. The present pastor is the Rev. Dr. J. O. Peck. The church is the largest Methodist church in Brooklyn, and has 1,365 members.

At the services yesterday morning Bishop E. G. Andrews preached. In the afternoon addresses were made by the Rev. Drs. Watkins, Hunt and Buckley, and the Rev. Messrs. Haynes and Reed. Last evening a sermon was preached by Dr. Hunt.

REMOVING THE SNOW.

The Street Cleaning Department took advantage of the fact that the streets were comparatively clear yesterday to prosecute with vigor the work of removing the snow. Broadway was thoroughly cleaned from the Battery to Thirty-fourth-st. Wall, State and Ful on-sts. were also cleaned. In West Broadway, Canal, Chambers and Fourteenth-sts. the snow was piled in heaps and in part removed. The sun melted the snow in places and made the work of carting it away more difficult.

WALLACK'S OLD THEATRE.

It is understood that the lease of Adolph Neuenderst. of the Germania Theatre, at Broadway and Thirteenth-st., will be cancelled and that Lester Wallack will resume the management of the place again, where he was forso many years so successful. Mr. Neuendorst's management has inot been profitable. Mr. Wallack will be the manager and Messrs. Brooks and Dickson will take charge of the business for him. The management will be assumed by Mr. Wallack on May 1. It is the intention of Messrs. Brooks and Dickson to change the name of the theatre, and to play combinations there. It is probable that John McCullough and his company will be the first to appear in the theatre under the new management.

While a rebearsal was in progress on Saturday, a city marshal and several other officers went into the theater and became the work of removing the WALLACK'S OLD THEATRE.

While a rebearsal was in progress on Saturday, a city marshal and several other officers went into the theatre and began the work of removing the fixtures at the instance of Mr. Neuendorff's creditors. An agreement, however, was subsequently made, the fixtures were restored, and the rehearsal went on uninterrupted. The usual entertainment was given in the evening. Two deputy-marshals remained in charge of the fixtures in the theatre yesterday. The company played in Newark last evening.

CHURCH WORK IN THE WEST.

The annual Epiphany missionary meeting of the Church of the Holy Communion, at Sixth-ave, and Twentieth-st, was held last evening. The church was full and the addresses were listened to with close attention. The usual evening service was followed, two addresses taking the place of the sermon. The first speaker was Bishop Paddock, of Washington Territory. In that immense Territory, he said, which was as large as the States of New-York. Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island combined, the church had only ten elergymen. They went to the shop and the farm and gave books to the people, and where they could get an assembly they held service. There were now twenty-five places where worship was held, and eight or nine church buildings. They had also one church school for girls, situated in the southeastern part of the Territory—and an Eastern gentleman had promised to endow a school for girls on the northwestern coast, if some one would furnish a building, and also a school for boys on the same condition.

The second speaker was Herbert Welsh, of Philadelphia, who had visited the Indian Territory. He gave some account of the progress in civilizing and Christianizing the Indians there. CHURCH WORK IN THE WEST.

THE FAILURE OF S. MARCUS AND SON.

A dispatch from Moblie, Ala., yesterday stated that S. Marcus & Son, dry-goods merchants, of No. 195 Fulton-st., Brooklyn, with branch houses in Mobile and Birmingham, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., were embarrassed, and that the Mobile house had made an assignment to A. J. Moses, of Mobile. Their habilities were stated to be $150,000, and their assets nominal. The dispatch also stated that the firm were said to have been shipping away quantities of goods from Mobile tately. Solomon Marcus, the head of the firm, was seen at his home, No. 14 Liberry-st., Brooklyn, last night. He stated that the rep-rted assignment was correct, but that the liabilities were between $50,000 and $60,000. His son, the Mobile partner, telegraphed him on Saturaay that he should have to make an assignment, and in order to protect aid the creditors the father made an assignment to A. Siegel, of New-York, the amount of assets he could not state until the stock and accounts were examined. The principal creditors are in New-York City. Mr. Solomon Marcus said he was unable to state at present the cause of the assignment by the Mobile house. He objected to give the names of the New-York creditors. THE FAILURE OF S. MARCUS AND SON.

THE EASTER FESTIVAL OF THE RUSSIAN CHURCH.

CHURCH.

The Rev. Dr. Bjerring, of the Greek Church, made an address last aight at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church at Fourth-ave, and Twenty-second-st. on "The Introduction of Christianity into Russia." Peter the Great, said the speaker, placed the Russian Church on its present basis of subjection to the State. Easter was the high festival of the Russian Church. On the night before Easter the cities were illuminated, and the Russians all arrayed themselves in their best clothes and flocked to the Watch-night service. At midnight, the bells rang out, and the priests formed into procession, bearing wax candles in their hands. They entered the church and slowly passed through and out. Then in soleinn order they went round the entered the church and slowly passed through and out. Then in solemn order they went round the church from west to east, while within the kneeling people sang the Easter hymn. At the closed door, the clergy pansed and knocked. As the words within were sung, "Who is He risen from the dead," the doors were opened and the priests entered singing. Thus the Easter festival began.

began.

The speaker referred in conclusion to the efforts of the Russian Bible Society. The present society was the second that had been established, the first having been suppressed by the authorities. During its seventeen years of existence, it had distributed 611,546 Bibles, and its usefulness was increasing

PAYING OFF A REAVY DEBT.

RATING OFF A REAST DEST.

St. Stephen's Roman Catholic Church in East Twenty-eighth-st, has a debt of $180,000 which the paster, the Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn, is endeavoring to remove, and he has decided to devote the collection on the first Sunday of each month to that purpose. The collection yesterday was about $82,000.

"Aithough the debt is seemingly a large one," said one of the parish priests last night, "it is not really so, as it is on a property worth half a million dollars. There is nothing in the financial condition of the church to excite apprehension. Everything is going on in an encouraging manner, but the pastor has been trying to releve the church of its heavy burden, and the people have responded nobly."

B. M. BURDICK'S SUICIDE. B. M. BURDICK'S SUICIDE.

No cause was found yesterday for the suicide of B. M. Burdick, who cut his throat at No. 41 Seventh-ave., Brooklyn, on Saturday. He was noticed to be very cheerful in the moining of the day and he was to see a man about securing a situation to-day. There was an insurance on his life for $1,600. A week ago yesterday he attended service in Plymouth Church, where he was a member, in company with his daughter. For over two years Mr. Burdick had lived apart from his wife, but he supported her and their daughter, and the latter frequently visited him.

A soap box, having in it more than one hundred letters and a number of newspapers, was found yesterday in a yard in the rear of Maner's liquot shop, at One-hundred-and-eighteenth-st, and Third-ave. The box was taken to the One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-st. Police Station, The police had several theories to explain the mystery, but they were unable to support them with any evidence. The box was sent to branch station L of the Post Office and the facts were subsequently reported to Postmaster Pearson.

THE VALUE OF A HOME.

"Home, as a refuge, as a political safeguard, and as a type of Heavenly rest," was Mr. Talmage's topic yesterday at the Brookly's Tabernacle. Home, he said, was a powerful test of character. He contrasted the happy home where Caristian influences are felt, and that where there was no Bible on the shelf, and where want and sin were present. The insecurity of the French Republic was because of the lack of true Caristian homes. The door of the house was the bost fortress and cousenoid utensits the best artifiery. Mr. Falimage their related a dream he ma' while dozing on a sofa. He told of a land of all delights where there were no hovels, and no cemeteries. The people were holiday garb all the time. Long lost friends greeted him with the cry of "Home, nome!" The new male quartet sang twice during the service, to the evident satisfaction of the audience.

Some doubt has arisen in regard to whether the term of Auditor Gleason has not expired. He was appointed last March when Auditor Palmer's term lacked nine months of expiration. The law says the term shall be three years, and if Mr. Gleason could only legally hold during Auditor Palmer's unexpired term, his time ended with the beginning of the present year. Mr. Gleason has been advised, however, that his appointment was for three years and that such is the proper construction of the law.

The Church of the Reformation in Stantonst. near Essex celebrated yesterday morning the fiftieth anniversary of its foundation. The services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Fleischhacker, the minister in charge, assisted by the Rev. Abbott Brown. Bishop Paddock, of Washington Territory, preached the sermon. The Bishop in his address, traced the history of the church from its inception, in January, 1833, until the present time. He pald a bigh tribute to the real, manifested by Bishop Riley, of Mexico, in his early days, for the success of the mission and to his associate, Benjamin C. Wetmore, a lawyer, at No. 10 Nacsantst, in this city, who for twenty years has devoted his time, talent and money to its interest.

The congregation met first in a hall near the present location, on the testival of the Epiphany in January, 1833. The Rev. Dr. John MeVlekar, then professor of the evidences of religion in Columbia College, rook an active part in the organization of the church, and the Rev. Lot Jones was made rector. Other persons soon became interested. Samuel Ward, an earnest friend of the mission until his death, headed the subscription list for the erection of a church, and many good churchmen of that time, such as Gulian C. Verplasca, Henry Laight, Peter Lorillard, John D. Wolfe, J. G. Coster, Benjamin Aymer, Abraham Schermerhoru, Peter G. Suyvesant, Meige D. Benjamin, Gideon Lee, William B. Astor, and the Rev. Dr. Milnor were among the contributors. As a result, with a loan from Trinity Church, lots were purchased and a church built, the cornerstone being iald by the Rev. Benbard Chaming Moore, Bis op of Virginia. The church was consecrated June 25, 1834, by the Bishops of New-York, Penusylvania and Connecticut. This was the first free Protestant Episcopal Church in the city. The Ray, Lot Jones was the rector for over thirty years, and he died in the midst of his isbors.

Episcopai the rector for over thirty years, and he died in the index of his islors.

Mr. Wetmore, to whom Bishop Paddock alluded in his sermon, aluce the death of the Rev. Lot Jones has, with the occasional assistance of a dergyman, carried on this missionary enterprise. In a conversation with a TRIBLENE reporter at the conclusion of the services, Mr. Wetmore, who is of medium height, with gray hair and beard, and a countenance betokening geniality and kin d-heartedness, spoke of the early work of the visition.

and the described so, well," said Mr. Wetmore, "how mission.

"I remember so well," said Mr. Wetmore, "how creatfallen and despendent Blahop Kiley, of Mexico, then a young divinity student, and I were when our minister, the Rev. Let Jones, died. We realized how necessary it was for us to strain every effort If we hoped to sustain our church. Slid, we were successful. At inflerent times we have had ministers, but none have stayed with us very long, as we could not afford to ever were sujery.

A few of us go around the city collecting the little walfs who are in need of a home and we put them in our institution to be ted, spiritually and playsically, I spend the greater part of my time there since my home was pulled down in Stanton-at, near the howery, to make room for manufacturing establishments. It was the happiest period of my life, when as many as 100 young men lived with me."

"what was the character of the young men I" the reporter asked!

was always left open—they could easily have roobed or killed me."

"How did you manage to interest and amuse such a motley gathering of young men!"

I had reading rooms, Gospel services, literary entertainments; fest those who were hungry, clothed the destitute and tried to help those who were out of employment to get work, and in a thousand ways I managed to retain the interest of the young men, whom I dearly lived and in whose welfare I was deeply interested. In the neighborhood of my house there were, and are still, the very worst dens of infamy and vice; it is the most crowded portion of New York. Probably 200,000 people are massed in the enormous tenement houses within a comparatively short distance of my late home. The people are very Godless, and all very poor. In these miscrable localities the young men are offered attractions by the run-sellers in the shape of dance-houses. To counteract tuese entertainments of the devil, I established my home and invited all young men to share it with me.

"One society. The Helping Hand for Women," does a noble work. Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt is the President. The alm of the society is to assist needy gris and mothers. The ladies make visiting fours and seek out those who need sewing done, and then have it sout to the church, were the women meet and sew. Frequently some kind friend gives us material for nothing, which, of course, is distributed among our hittle band of workers, and they make it up into dresses for themselves and hose who are dependent on them. Then there is a temperance society to which the young men of the parish belong. Although its chief purpose is to check the torrent of intemperance, still at the weakly meetings interary entervainments are sometimes given; now and then a docate la held. "No man," said a clergyman to the reporter yesterday, "will know how hard Mr. Wetmore has worked here and how much he has accomplished until the secrets of all hearts are revealed. It is a case almost unparalleled in the history of the chu-ch-a layman devoting his time and money to the education, anuscinent and sustemance of his poor fellownen. He not only assists them, but lives with them, cats, dranks, talks and in many cases sleeps with them. He is a good man."

A MARRIAGE AT "JERRY" McAULET'S.

was entered yesterday morning by burglars, who stole two overcoats and a watch, in all worth $50. The overcoats were dropped in Sixth-st, by a man, who was seen by a policeman but made his eccape.

At the meeting of the Brooklyn Citizens' Protective Union, an organization of luquor seilers, held yesierday, it was voted to send $50 to F. Ladenburg, at Frankfort-on-the-Main, for the benefit of the sufferers from the Khine floods.

John Lynch, age twenty-one, of No. 224 Bush-st, was arrested at an early hour yesterday morning for a felonious assault upon John Mortha, age twenty-four, of No. 184 thamilton-ave. The two men had a quarrel in a fliquor store at No. 135 Hamilton-ave, and Lynch are valued and stabbed Murtha in the side of the head, causing a compound fracture of the skuli. Mariha's condition is regard as dangerous. He is at the Long Island College Hospital.

A number of citizens have under consideration a project of building a large and handsome opera house near Broad and Market-sts.

The produce commission firm of David & Erra Geary, Centre Market, is reported to have failed with habilities which the hrm states to be only $5,000.

County Physician Hewlett began an investigation last evening as to the cause of the death of Unarles Ens, age twenty-two. The man said before he died that he had been kicked and beaten on Wednesday night by three men in front of his house, No. 19 Elizabeths-t. It is believed that his death was caused by his injuries.

At midight on Saturday Francis Leinsteiner and Richard Eisman were practising rifle-shooting in the inager-beer saloon of Julia Katzemeyer, 80.31 Rroome-st., where a shooting gallery is in use. When Mrs. McAuley spoke, many eyes filled with tears. Among the other speakers were the Rev. Dr. Ormiston, F. A. Palmer, C. W. Sawyer and the Rev. Dr. Ormiston, The report for the last year was then read by Dr. Houghton. The total expenditures were $8,569 29 and the contributions $8,507 76. Since the statement was arranged, money enough had been contributed to balance the account. In the twelve months of its existence, the mission been visited by 158,618 people. There had have been 2,487 requests for prayers. James Talcott announced that subscriptions to the fund for this year were in order. J. N. Sicarns headed the list with $500. A half dozen $100 subscriptions, followed by one of $250, were then made. About $2,000 in all was collected and subscribed before the meeting closed. A second service was held in the evening.

THE CONFLICTING ELEMENTS IN MAN.

Mr. Beecher announced yesterday morning in Plymouth Church that the annual renting of the pews would take place on Thesday evening, without fail. Cards giving diagrams of the pews and aisle chairs, with the fixed price of each, were distributed throughout the house. The sermon related to the example of Christ. Mr. Beecher said that the point where two rivers united or where conflicting winds met was confusion and battle. In man were two streams, one of selfishness and united or where conflicting winds met was confusion and battle. In man were two streams, one of selfishness and one of love. The conflict of life was at their meeting points, and which overcame and swalliowed up the other determined the course of a man's life. Christ was the great example of the power and force of love. He was to be followed not alone in philosophy and reason, nor in organized churches with ceremony and pageant, but size in humilation as the despised and crucified Saviour. After aspiration and ambition were defeated there was still Christ for everyone even in disgrace. Overthrown Himself He came to the fallen.

Mr. Beecher then appealed to those present to follow the Lord as their great example, and invited all who had any desire to remember and sever Him to unite in the celebration of the Lord's Supper, which then took place.

THE HOPE OF ISRAEL.

Dr. Charles Robinson, of the Presbyterian Memorial Church, at Madison-ave, and Fifty-turid-st, preached yesterday morning on "New Year's Work." His text was Joremiah xiv., 8 and 9. In the course of his remarks he said that it often seemed as if the great and good men had died out of the Republic; that evil was regant, and that corruption poisoned the whole organism. But God, he said, was the "Hope of Israel," and had not forgotten the Nation baptised in His name by its founders. The regeneration of the heart, the presence of Christ in the family, the purification and encouraging of the church, were necessary to the presence of God. He made aliusion to the fact that his tair-teentu year with that congiceration was just beginning, and prayed for the continued presence of the "Hope of Israel."
